MEDINA COUNTY COUNCIL MEETS.

The fourth and last meeting for the year 1932-33 of the Medina
County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held in the high school auditorium of Hondo, Saturday afternoon, May 13, with almost every school district in the County represented by a delegation of both men and women.
Prof. W. N. Saathoff, Chairman of the County Council, was master of ceremonies and also presided over the business session which followed the program. The meeting was formally opened with the assembly singing "America", followed by Rev. R.
W. Merrill, pastor of the local Baptist church, leading the invocation.
Miss Evelyn Knopp, winner in a recent musical contest sponsored by the Tuesday Musical Club of San Antonio, entertained with a splendid piano selection, Massenet's beautiful melody, "Aragonaise". Miss Knopp
was followed by Miss Sara Rothe,
who sang in a lovely, clear soprano
voice, Wood's "A Brown Bird Singing".
She was accompanied by her talented sisters, Miss Josie playing the piano accompaniment and Miss Ethel the violin obligato. The young ladies are from D'Anis.
Chairman Saathoff then introduced his good friend and distinguished speaker, Mr. L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Austin, Texas. An inspirational and edifying address followed.
Mr. Woods chose a subject which lies close to the hearts of everyone, and expounded in a gratifying manner
the making of good citizens, of ourselves first and then of our children.
He asserted that service to humanity
is the only purpose in life, and that to instill this great principle into the character and lives of our children,
of others' children, and humanity in general, we must first make it our own purpose in life, our own method
of conduct and character, and illustrated with these words: "Only in the measure one masters himself is the measure in which he is qualified to govern others." "Self-mastery is the problem for each of us to solve,"
he continued. He declared self-mastery to be the purpose of all education, whether in school, church or home. To achieve self-mastery, the speaker set forth a method of procedure, namely: to have high ideals of citizenship, to scorn ridicule of others by practicing these ideals; to analyze self and our aims. He asserted that analysis is necessary before we can master ourselves, and that temptations are to show us our weaknesses and how to analyze and master them. Last but just as great in importance is to strive in every way to make our own the traits of a good citizen, namely, honesty, courage, obedience, and a willing spirit, unfettered and unselfish. Mr. Woods gave as a model of these traits of a good citizen, George Washington,
that seasoned example to mankind.
He emphasized his previous remarks with the statement that not until we had mastered ourselves, possessed
high ideals of citizenship and practiced them ourselves would we be ready to teach the other fellow how to live. He stressed the point that it is the duty of the parents and the teachers to instill the traits of a good citizen into the children in their charge, and only by the success of their efforts will the welfare of our country be assured. It rests with the citizens of tomorrow, with our children. He concluded with an appropriate poem by Edgar A. Guest on service, illustrating the purpose he had been dwelling upon, "service to humanity is our only purpose in life."
Two musical selections concluded
the afternoon's program. Miss Adelle Scott, another of Hondo's talented young pianists, had for her happy
choice an Etude by Wollenhaupt.
Mrs. R. W. Gaines, coloratura soprano, was presented in two vocal selections, Hadyn-Wood's "Daffodil Song" and "Fairy Bells" by Fest.
She was accompanied by Miss Minnie Margaret Howard at the piano.
The short business session was then held, during which the officers of the Council were re-elected by acclamation. Those retained were Prof. W. N. Saathoff, Chairman, and Mrs. W. O. Rothe, Secretary.
Mrs. Alfred Rinn, one of the delegates from Riomedina, asked that the next meeting of the County Council, the first for the year 1933-34, be held at the Riomedina school,
and the request was granted.
The local organization of the P. T.
A. as hosts to the Council entertained with a social hour and served a delicious lunch of chicken salad,
deviled eggs, saltines and iced tea.
About 115 people were served, it was reported.
The local organization is to be congratulated on the pleasing manner
in which they extended hospitality to the visiting associations and for their fortunate selection of a distinguished man in the educational world to address the audience and for the splendid musical numbers rendered by excellent and talented performers.

SENIORS PRESENT "GIRL-SHY"

The first of the series of school events which will terminate in the Commencement exercises was the Class play, "Girl-Shy", presented by the Senior Class of Hondo High School, Friday evening, May 12, in the school auditorium. "Girl-Shy"
was a comedy drama in three acts,
the locale being set in a boys' school
at graduation time. It had all the romance, humor, complications, and foibles of a college campus in the spring.
The cast included Joe Haegelin,
as Tom Arsdale, a girl-shy young fellow who wasn't so shy when the right one, Babs Stanford, in the person of Tusnela Wurzbach, came along; August Finger, as Oke Stinson, Tom's roommate and an ardent admirer of the fair sex, especially of Peaches Carter, played by Genevieve Brucks; Elvira Schweers as Tom's frivolous aunt Caroline; Clifford Stiegler, as Anthony Arsdale, Tom's match-making father; Irene Barkulow, as Sylvia Webster, Mr. Arsdale's
choice for Tom and Tom's pet aversion;
George Muennink, as Dean Mar-
low, dean of the college, who succumbs to the charms of Aunt Caroline; Asma, portrayed by Jean Strawn, who was not a cleaning woman
but a colored "wash lady"; Charlotte Miller, as Birdie Laverne, a movie aspirant; Alfred Tennyson Murgetoy, played by Howard Rothe, who wanted to be called Alfred, the college poet who found in Sylvia a kindred soul; and Jimmy Smith, Birdie's
late affinity.
The presentation of the play was enthusiastically received by a very large audience. There were people present from all over the County. The intermissions were also greatly enjoyed and loudly applauded by those present. A quartet composed of Herbert Buss, Jack Bradley, Frank
and B. C. Rucker, sang several popular songs, and Miss Bernice Speece rendered a delightful violin solo. Accompanists were Misses Mary Ruth Wilson and Dorothy Zerr.
Direction of the play was under
Miss Lela Hazell Boyd and Prof. C.
M. Flory.

the hours from four to seven. Guests

GEORGE O'BRIEN HAS LEAD IN
"THE GOLDEN WEST".
The color and romance of the South in pre-rebellion days and the adventure and excitement of the far west in the days when the red man
ruled the plains, are blended in Zane Grey's "The Golden West", the Fox picture with George O'Brien in the leading role, coming on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week, to the Colonial Theatre.
An old family feud destroys the love of a boy and a girl. The youth goes west where he meets and marries another girl and a son is born.
The father and mother are killed by the Indians and the child is reared to manhood by the savages, finally to become their leader.
O'Brien plays a dual role, the first
during his successful career in motion pictures. He is supported by a cast that includes Janet Chandler, Marion Burns, from the New York
stage, Bert Hanlon, Arthur Pierson, Edmund Breese and Emmett Corrigan.

IN MY GARDEN.

One bright morning
In the month of May,
I wandered in my garden
To hear what my flowers had to say.
The saucy bachelorbutton
Spied the modest bluebonnet
And in his floral courtship
Sang a real love sonnet.
The violet and verberna
Heard them from afar.
And whispered to each other,
"We brighten the corners where we are."
The stately sunflower,
Clad in robes so gay,
Paid his humble duty
To the King of Day.
The graceful queenswreath,
With its sprays of pink,
Embraced each swaying twig
Without stopping to think.
The abelia greeted me
With its modest eye
And shed its fragrance
As I passed by.
The bold hollyhock,
So tall and straight,
Stood like a soldier
At the garden gate.
The plumbago so modest,
With eyes of azure blue,
Smiled as I beheld it,
Like a friend so true.
The dahlia so graceful,
With modest pride,
Beheld the flowerets
Smiling by her side.
The rose looked out
On the beautiful scene
Saying, "Remember, my subjects,
I am your queen."
Just then a gentle shower,
Descending from above,
Washed their dusty faces
And filled each heart with love.
The humming bird in passing,
On wing so gay and fleet,
Kissed each flowery petal
In search of nectar sweet.
Then in fancy I seemed
To hear with one loud acclamation
The whole flowery kingdom
Praising God for their creation!

(1) Holding the belief that the highest degree of local self government which is consistent with the efficient conduct of those affairs by necessity lodged in the Nation and the State will prove most responsive to the will of the people, and result to reward their diligence and intelligence by greater economy and efficiency in their local governmental affairs, it hereby is ordained:

"(2) Any county having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more according to the then last Federal Census may adopt a County Home Rule Charter, to embrace those powers appropriate hereto, within the specific limitations hereinafter provided. It further is provided that the Legislature, by a favoring vote of two-thirds of the total membership of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, may authorize any county, having a population less than that above specified, to proceed hereunder for the adoption of a Charter; however, as a condition for such authorization, it is required that notice of the intent to seek legislative authority hereunder must be published in one or more newspapers, to give general circulation in the county affected, not less than once per week for four (4) consecutive weeks, and the first of such publications shall appear not less than thirty (30) next prior to the time an Act making proposal hereunder may be introduced in the Legislature. No County Home Rule Charter may be adopted by any county save upon a favoring vote of the resident qualified electors of the affected county. In elections submitting to the voters a proposal to adopt a Charter (unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature) the votes cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county shall be separately kept but collectively counted and the votes of the qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town likewise shall be separately kept and separately counted, and unless there be a favoring majority of the votes cast within and a favoring majority of the votes cast without such collective cities and towns, the Charter shall not be adopted. It is expressly forbidden that any such Charter may in any way affect the operation of the General Laws of the State relating to the judicial, tax, fiscal, educational, police, highway and health systems, or any other department of the State's superior government. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the adoption of a Charter provision inimical to or inconsistent with the sovereignty and established public policies of this State, and no provision having such vice shall have validity as against the State. No Charter provision may operate to impair the exemption of homesteads as established by this Constitution and the Statutes relating thereto.

"(3) A Charter hereunder may provide: the continuance of a County Commissioners' Court, as now constituted, to serve as the governing body of a county to operate hereunder; or, may provide for a governing body otherwise constituted, which shall be elective, and service therein shall be upon such qualifications, for such terms, under such plan of representation, and upon such conditions of tenure and compensation as may be fixed by any such Charter. The terms for service in such governing body may exceed two (2) years, but shall not exceed six (6) years. In any event, in addition to the powers and duties provided by any such Charter, such governing body shall exercise all powers and discharge all duties which, in the absence of the provisions hereof, would devolve by law on County Commissioners and County Commissioners' Courts. Further, any such Charter may provide for the organization, reorganization, establishment and administration of the government of the county, including the control and regulation of the performance of and the compensation for all duties required in the conduct of the county affairs, subject to the limitations herein provided.

"b. A Charter hereunder may provide that Judges of County Courts (including that County Court designated in this Constitution), and Justices of the Peace be compensated upon a salary basis in lieu of fees. The jurisdiction of the County Court designated in this Constitution, and the duties of the Judges thereof, may be confined to that general jurisdiction of a probate Court which elsewhere is defined in this Constitution. The office of Justice of the Peace may be made either elective or appointive. Other than as herein provided, no such Charter shall provide for altering the jurisdiction or procedure of any Court. The duties of District Attorney and County Attorney may be confined to representing the State in civil cases to which the State is a party and to enforcement of the State's Penal Code, and the compensation of said attorneys may be fixed on a salary basis in lieu of fees.

"c. Save as hereinabove and hereinafter otherwise provided, such Charters, within the limits expressed therein, may invest the governing body to be established for any county electing to operate hereunder with the power to create, consolidate or abolish any office or department, whether created by other provisions of the Constitutions or by statute, define the duties thereof, fix the com-

penation for service therein, make the same elective or appointive and prescribe the time, qualifications and conditions for tenure in any such office; save, that no such Charter other than as hereinbefore authorized, shall provide to regulate the status, service, duties or compensation of members of the Legislature, Judges of the Courts, District Attorneys, County Attorneys, or any office whatever by the law of the State required to be filled by an election embracing more than one county. Excepting herefrom nominations, elections or appointments to offices, the terms whereof may not have expired prior to the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution, at such time as a Charter provision adopted hereunder may be in effect (save as to those offices which must continue to be elective, as herein elsewhere specified), all terms of county officers and all contracts for the giving of service by deputies under such officers, may be subject to termination by the administrative body of the county, under an adopted Charter so providing, and there shall be no liability by reason thereof.

"d. Any county electing to operate hereunder shall have the power, by Charter provision, to levy, assess and collect taxes, and to fix the maximum rate for ad valorem taxes to be levied for specific purposes, in accordance with the Constitution and laws of this State, provided, however, that the limit of the aggregate taxes which may be levied, assessed and collected hereunder shall not exceed the limit or total fixed or hereafter to be fixed, by this Constitution to control counties, and the annual assessment upon property, both real, personal and mixed, shall be a first superior and prior lien thereon.

"e. In addition to the powers herein provided, and in addition to powers included in County Home Rule Charters, any county may, by a majority vote of the qualified electors of said county, amend its Charter to include other powers, functions, duties and rights which now or hereafter may be provided by this Constitution and the statutes of the State for counties.

"(4) Any county operating hereunder shall have the power to borrow money for all purposes lawful under its Charter, to include the refunding of a lawful debt, in a manner conforming to the General Laws of the State, and may issue therefor its obligations. Such obligations, other than those to refund a lawful debt, shall not be valid unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by those resident qualified voters of the area affected by the taxes required to retire such obligations, who may vote thereon. In cases of county obligations, maturing after a period of five (5) years, the same shall be issued to mature serially, fixing the first maturity of principal at a time not to exceed two (2) years next after the date of the issuance of such obligations. Such obligations may pledge the full faith and credit of the county; but in no event shall the aggregate obligations so issued, in principal amount outstanding at any one time, exceed the then existing Constitutional limits for such obligations and such indebtedness and its supporting tax shall constitute a first and superior lien upon the property taxable in such county. No obligation issued hereunder shall be valid unless prior to the time of the issuance thereof there be levied a tax sufficient to retire the same as it matures, which tax shall not exceed the then existing Constitutional limits.

"(5) Such Charter may authorize the governing body of a county operating hereunder to prescribe the schedule of fees to be charged by the officers of the county for specified service, to be in lieu of the schedule for such fees prescribed by the General Laws of the State; and, to appropriate such fees to such funds as the Charter may prescribe; provided, however, no fee for a specified service shall exceed in amount the fee fixed by General Law for that same service. Such Charters as to call judicial officers, other than District Judges, may prescribe the qualifications for services, provided the standards therefor be not lower than those fixed by the General Laws of the State.

"(6) a. Subject to the express limitations upon the exercise of the powers by this subdivision to be authorized, such Charters may provide (or omit to provide) that the governmental and proprietary functions of any city, town, district or other defined political subdivision (which is a governmental agency and embraced within the boundaries of the county) be transferred, either as to some or all of the functions thereof, and yielded to the control of the administrative body of the county. No such transfer or yielding of functions may be effected, unless the proposal is submitted to a vote of the people, and, unless otherwise provided, by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature, such a proposal shall be submitted as a separate issue, and the vote within and without any such city, town, district, or other defined governmental entity, shall be separately cast and counted, and unless two-thirds of the qualified votes cast within the yielding defined governmental entity, and a majority of the qualified votes cast in the remainder of the county, favor the proposed merger, it shall not be effected. In case of the mergers hereby authorized, without express Charter provision therefor, in so far as may be required to make effective the object of the proposed merger, the county shall succeed to all the appropriate lawful powers, duties, rights, procedures, restrictions and limitations which prior to the merger were reposed in, or imposed upon, the yielding governmental agency. Particularly, it is provided that the power to create funded indebtedness and to levy taxes in support thereof may be exercised only by such procedure, and within such limits, as now are, or hereafter may be, provided by law, to control such appropriate other governmental agencies were they to be independently administered. Such mergers may be effected under proposed contracts between the county and any such yielding governmental agency, to be approved at an election as hereinbefore provided for. In order to increase governmental efficiency and effect economy the county may contract with the principal city of the county to perform one or more of its functions, provided such contracts shall not be valid for more than two (2) years.

"b. In case of the partial or complete merger of the government of a city operating under a Home Rule Charter, with the government of a county operating hereunder, those city Charter provisions affected thereby shall cease to control, and the county Charter provisions shall control.

"c. When any embraced incorporated city or town elects to merge its governmental functions with those of the county under the provisions hereof, such Charter may provide for defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, provided, however, that in defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, such boundaries may be extended only to include those areas contiguous to such cities as are urban in character; and as to such cities or towns and for the benefit thereof the county, in addition to the primary city and county tax herein authorized and any other lawful district tax, may levy and collect taxes upon the property taxable within such city or town as defined or redefined, within the limits authorized by Sections 1 and 5 of Article XI of this Constitution, (or any Amendment thereof) for incorporated cities according to the population, provided that no tax greater than that existing at the time of such merger or for any added purpose shall be imposed upon any such city or town unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by the resident qualified voters of such city or town.

"d. Areas urban in character though not incorporated, under appropriate Charter provision may be defined as such by the governing body of the county, provided, however, that no portion of the county shall be defined as an urban area unless it has sufficient population to entitle it to incorporate under the then existing laws of the State; and no such urban area, when created, shall be vested with any taxing or bonding power which it would not possess if it were operating as a separate incorporated unit under the then existing Constitutional and Statutory provisions of this State; and provided further that the governing body of the county for the government of such areas shall have and exercise all powers and authority granted by law to the governing bodies of similar areas when separately incorporated as a city or town, and such areas shall be subject to additional taxation within the same Constitutional limits as control taxation for a city or a town of like population. Likewise such Charter may provide for the governing board of the county subject to existing Constitutional and statutory provisions to define, create and administer districts, and have and exercise the powers and authority granted by the Constitution and laws relative to the same.

"(7). No provision of his Constitution inconsistent with the provisions of this Section 3, of Article IX, shall be held to control the provisions of a Charter adopted hereunder, and conforming herewith. Charters adopted hereunder shall make appropriate provision for the abandonment, revocation, and amendment thereof, subject only to the requirements that there must be a favoring majority of the vote cast upon such a proposal, by the qualified resident electors of the county; and, no Charter may forbid amendments thereof for a time greater than two (2) years. The provisions hereof shall be self-executing, subject only to the duty of the Legislature to pass all laws (consistent herewith) which may be necessary to carry out the intent and purposes hereof. Further, the Legislature shall prescribe a procedure for submitting to decision, by a majority vote of the electors voting thereon, proposed alternate and elective Charter provisions."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in August, 1933, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"For the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."

"Against the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."

Each voter shall scratch out one of the above listed clauses on such ballot, leaving unscratched that particular clause which expresses his vote on the proposed Amendment to which it relates.

Section 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation ordering an election in conformity herewith to determine whether or not the proposed Constitutional Amendment set forth herein shall be adopted, and the Governor shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

LOCAL SCHOOL TAX ELECTION.
At the election held Saturday,
May 6th, to raise the tax for the local school district from 10c to 50c, 70 votes were cast against the raise and 46 for.
This defeat of the raise in local taxes will mean a cut in school for LaCoste next year, unless the State will step in and do something to relieve the situation. Since this condition does not only exist locally, it is up to the State to formulate means to take care of the schools.
Perhaps getting the tax evader, and a different system of distribution to schools, might help.

QUIHI NOTES.
And hope maketh not ashamed.
Rom. 5:5.
Thus runs the logic and theology
of St. Paul: The cause: Justification
by faith; then the effects: Peace
with God, access into grace, rejoicing, glorifying in tribulation, patience, experience (verification), hope, one working the other. Such hope in God thru Christ maketh not ashamed. That's the right kind of hope. Pinning hope on health and wealth, wisdom and valor, prestige
and popularity, etc., is like leaning on a broken staff that breaks under pressure and pierces the hand. Valuable and desirable as these possessions are, they offer no anchorage to the soul. Invariably it breaks loose, in stormy weather, and drifts, like a forsaken vessel, on the rocks of disillusionment, if not despair. Lord, give us the hope of St. Paul.

Mother's Day saw a great assemblage with jubilant faces at worship.
Choir selection, flowers in abundant, sermon and sincere devotion,
all were expressive of the thoughts and sentiments of the day. The evening program of the Luther League had some very impressive numbers of great variety in the same channels
of thought, and those who were frightened away by false alarms of showers, missed a good program.

On Thursday, May the 25th, we celebrate Ascension Day. According to good old Quihi traditions, the service will be held at the old Quihi cemetery at 10 A. M. It's a Memorial Day for dear ones of bygone days,
reaching back to the middle of the previous century. They are not forgotten, and their memory is annually revived for grateful descendants by such service. Loving hands will take care of the old graves.

Announcements for Sunday, May
the 21st: Service in German at 10
A. M. Sunday School and Bible
class at 9 A. M. Service in English
at 8 P. M. Both services at Quihi.
Enter into his gates with thankgiv-
ing, and into his courts with praise.

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS
What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.
It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative
herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.
When you've a sick headache,
can't eat, are bilious or sluggish;
and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles),
and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative
of over a million women!

R. W. Richter, one of Medina County's veteran stock-farmers, was a business caller at this office Saturday and moved up his dates to both FARMING and the old home paper.
Mr. Richter is worried about the outlook for the corn crop and says only a few more days of dry weather and the crop will be a complete failure.
The light rain which fell Sunday
night will give some of it a respite
for a little longer, but Mr. Richter's fears seem in a fair way to be realized. In this connection, however,
Mr. Richter tells of an experience of some years back which show the marvelous possibilities of this region
known as southwest Texas. The corn crop of that year had failed on account of drouth. Following a summer rain between the middle and
last of August, he planted five acres in Surecopper corn. The corn grew off rapidly, making a good stalk and ears, and but for an early frost, would have matured a fine crop of grain.
As it was, besides furnishing an abundance of roasting ears in season,
the soft corn that was caught by the early frost while in the dough stage
fattened his hogs for butchering. Dr.
Bradley, so Mr. Richter says, had a similar experience the same year, and this seems to advise that, should the present crop fail, farmers short of grain or feed will do well to plant grain, both corn and sorghum, at any opportunity that offers between now and the end of summer. You can't keep Southwest Texas down!

Leroy Hunter arrived last week
from Kingsville and on Monday began work as rural mail carrier on the Hondo route, succeeding Robert Reitzer, deceased. Mr. Hunter is an experienced mail man, having been transferred here from the Kingsville postoffice by the postal authorities at Washington, and the protest of several hundred Medina County Democrats was made not against him personally but against the action of the postal authorities for sending an outside man here instead of giving the job to a home man. The authorities at Washington justify their un-Democratic action on the plea of economy
as the transfer of Hunter enables them
to discontinue the work he was doing at Kingsville, thereby saving his salary, without at the same time
having to drop an experienced employee from the pay-roll.

Henry Ford uses several inches of Anvil Herald space this week to tell
our readers of the faith that is in him
and of the confidence he has in the future of our country which he bases on that faith. Since the days when building autos was a pioneering game, Ford has built the people's car
—always setting the pace in quality and service for the money; never stepping beyond the reach of the people in price demands; always content with earning a reasonable profit. It is along just such lines that business must "beat its way" back to prosperity. Ford has caught the vision; let business catch his stride.

Elsewhere in this paper we publish the four Amendments to the State Constitution, submitted by the present legislature for a vote of the people on August 26th. Few propositions ever submitted to a vote of the people touch their everyday lives more intimately than do some of the matters involved in these propositions.
Principles of right and wrong are to be dealt with and new practices to be inaugurated that will be far reaching if once accepted and begun. Every voter should give these propositions
his most careful consideration.

Heavy clouds and falling raindrops
late Sunday evening had everyone hoping the drouth was broken, but the clouds lifted before sufficient rain had fallen to be of any great benefit. Reports are that a large section of the county was visited,
the precipitation ranging from .20 lo-

limited areas.

The local Baptists were hosts to

GULF REFINING COMPANY PUTS NEW DEAL IN PRACTICAL OPERATION.

Extensive Advertising Campaign Launched By Gulf Refining Company To Show Its Belief In Upward Trend Of Commerce And Industry.

Here's one of the most remarkable stories, as well as one that is of special interest to all the people of Texas. Three years ago the Gulf Refining Company engineers made a discovery of revolutionary importance to the oil industry. A discovery so advanced, so significant, that it made possible a finer, longer-lived motor oil than the industry had ever seen.

This discovery was an utterly new refining process—the now famous Alchior Process, exclusive with Gulf. The oil made by it is called Gulfpride.

At first it was possible to produce only limited quantities of this new and remarkable oil. But so amazingly outstanding was its quality that—utterly without advertising and publicity—its fame spread throughout the United States and all foreign nations. It came into universal demand wherever the finest motor lubrication was sought.

Gulfpride has now proved itself beyond question the finest motor oil in the world. This oil is manufactured in the Gulf Refinery in Port Arthur, Texas. It has established seventeen world's records! It has surpassed every set of specifications ever issued for a motor oil, including U. S. Army, U. S. Navy and British Government.

Gulfpride is now in demand in all corners of the earth and shipped to all points from Port Arthur, Texas, where it is manufactured.

The current extensive advertising campaign of the Gulf Refining Company now appearing in Texas newspapers is stressing this oil and, too, the fact that Gulf stations sell three grades of oil and gasoline at three different prices, ranging from the buying power of the motorist who wants a low priced gasoline or oil, but wants the most possible value for the money, to the motorists who want the very best regardless of cost.

Will Rogers can be heard on the air every Sunday evening on the Gulf Refining Company radio program at 7:00 P. M. and Irvin S. Cobb on Wednesday and Friday evenings at the same hour. A weekly comic paper is distributed free at all Gulf stations.

Sharp increase in the production of tomato juice should be of interest in Texas where thousands of bushels of fine tomatoes are permitted annually to perish. The 1932 pack was 3,824,457 cases as compared with 2,956,887 cases in 1931.

CUTWORMS IN THE GARDEN.

By W. H. White,

Associate Entomologist, Truck-Crop Insect Investigations, Bureau of Entomology.

When you find such plants as seedling tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce, and melons cut off near the ground, especially in the spring and early summer, it is fairly certain that a cutworm is responsible for the damage.

The Culprit.

A cutworm is the young or caterpillar of a night-flying moth. The moth lays its eggs upon plants or other objects and in some cases directly upon the ground, and the eggs hatch into cutworms. There are many kinds of these worms. The common ones are stout, soft-bodied, smooth or nearly smooth, and cylindrical, varying in color from gray to brown or nearly black and sometimes spotted or marked with stripes.

Where and How Cutworms Live.

Many kinds of cutworms go through the winter in the soil and begin work again early in the spring. Vegetable crops are not the only ones attacked, for a wide variety of ornamental plants and field crops may be severely damaged. Cutworms ordinarily work at night but often feed during dark, cloudy days. When you come across injury you can often find the guilty worm in a small tunnel in the soil close by the plant where it has destroyed.

How to Combat Cutworms.

It is easy to get rid of cutworms using a poisoned-bran bait.

The Bait

For bran..... 1 peck or 5 pounds
For arsenic or Paris green, 1-4 lb.
For molasses..... 1 pint
For water..... 3 or 4 quarts.

For, in large quantities:
For bran..... 25 pounds.
For arsenic or Paris green, 1 lb.
For molasses..... 2 quarts.
For water..... 15 to 20 quarts.

How to Mix the Bait.

(1) Thoroughly mix the poison with the bran. This is important. A particle of bran must carry a particle of poison to get a good kill. When mixing small quantities, you can mix the bait in a bucket with a paddle, stirring the poison slowly and stirring the bran at the same time. A more effective way is to mix the poison and bran with the hands, since soluble arsenic is absorbed to a slight extent through the skin. If the hands have any cuts, scratches, or other wounds, do not mix the bait. When making large quantities you can mix the bait with the bran on some flat surface, using a shovel and turning the mixture over as they mix. (2) Mix the sirup with the water. (3) Add the water and sirup so that the mixture of bran and molasses is thick. Stirring slowly all the time. (4) Add the water added at the time will wash the poison from the bran, resulting in an uneven mixture.

CAUTION.—Add only enough molasses to make a crumbly mass. It is a good plan to set aside a little of the mixture of dry bran and arsenic so that if too much water has been added, this dry reserve can be added to the mixture up to the proper consistency. Large quantities can be made up in galvanized iron or wooden washtrubs, and small quantities in buckets or similar containers.

When and How to Use the Bait.

Broadcast the poisoned bait by hand along the rows or around the base of the plant. Do this in the evening so that the bait will not dry out to any great extent before the worms get busy. Since the worms overwinter in the ground, a good plan to broadcast the bait over the cultivated areas is to set in the field. Where plants are to be transplanted to the field, this method is particularly valuable. Bait is made up for melons or other plants, apply the bait directly to the hills a few days before the crop is set in the field. Applications of this kind will rid the field of many of the worms before the crop is subject to attack.

Quantity of Bait to Use.

Ten to fifteen pounds of the wet bait is enough for one application per acre. Where the bait is applied directly to the rows or hills, a smaller quantity will be sufficient. It may require two or three applications at two-day intervals to rid the field of the pest.

Where to Obtain the Arsenical Poisons.

White arsenic can usually be purchased at drug stores. Paris green is a common insecticide and is usually handled by seedsmen and dealers in farm supplies or insecticides.

WARNING.—You must remember that a stomach poison for an insect is also poisonous to other animals and man. Keep the poison and poisoned-bran bait away from farm animals and irresponsible persons.

CORN SILKS AND COTTON BLOSSOMS.

Corn silks and cotton blossoms,
Flowers of the South,
Thirty years I've tended them
Through the rain and drouth—
Thirty years I've tended them,
Toiling hard and long,
Dreaming now and then a dream
That turned into a song.

Here I bind them in a wreath
For all the world to see:
Corn silks and cotton blossoms,
And the heart o' me.

The above title and verse furnish the title and introduction to a collection of poems by Whitney Montgomery, one of Texas' best known and best loved poets, and at present editor of The Kaleidograph, a National Magazine of Poetry, published at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Montgomery's verses are simple and understandable as the language of the farmer boy which he evidently was for they seem to spring from the soil as indigenous as the cotton and the corn plants and breathe an atmosphere as sweet as the May flowers that bloom along the country lanes.

Again, hear him sing:

SUMMER.

A whiff of clover, a breath of loam,
And a jingle of chains as the teams come home,
A red moon rising over the hill,
And the far-off call of a whippoorwill.

A great white star hung low in the West,
The good wife's supper and God's sweet rest.

You can not fail to enjoy reading this collection of verses, for coming, in his own words, right out of "the heart o' me", they sing themselves right into the heart of you.

The book is a neatly bound volume of good print and can be had from the author for the small price of $1.50 by ordering through this paper or addressing The Kaleidograph, Dallas, Texas.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 9, 1933

A great thing has occurred amongst us. We have made a complete turn-around, and at last America's face is toward the future.

Three years---1929 to 1932---we Americans looked backward. All our old financial and political machinery was geared to pull us out of the depression by the same door through which we entered. We thought it simply a case of going back the way we came. It failed. We now realize that the way out is forward---through it.

Thanks for that belongs to President Roosevelt. Inauguration Day he turned the Ship of State around. Having observed the failure of sincere efforts to haul us back the way we came, he designed a new method---new political and financial machinery---to pull us out the way we are going---forward. He is clearing international obstacles out of the way; he does not stand in awe of tariffs. The people begin to feel that he does not take advice from the "interests"; that he has courage and loyalty to work for one supreme interest only---the welfare of the American people. That is a big achievement for two months in office.

And now we all look to what is coming; we grow less and less concerned with what is behind. We are looking for a hand-hold on the haul rope. Every man wants to do what he can, and all he can.

The best thing I can do for the Country is to create industry by building good motor cars. If I knew anything better to do, I would do it. Industry must be my contribution. Motor cars must face ahead to the future, like everything else. They are so much a part of the Nation's daily life that if they lag behind they hold the Country back.

Henry Ford

SOME TIMELY COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT.

The present session of Congress March 9 and within the short space of two weeks three major measures were enacted into law, and a fourth has passed the House. These are: The emergency bank bill, the emergency bill and the beer bill. The farm relief bill has passed the House. This is an unprecedented record.

While the country, as indicated by the newspapers, seems to be backing the President in all the measures, I am not certain but what after sober second thought, there will be a reaction against some of them.

Some of them seem to be unconstitutional according to the plain letter of the organic law, but there is no telling what the Supreme Court will hold and Congress no longer considers the Constitution when it desires to enact a law.

It would seem that the drastic features of the bank law giving authority to close perfectly sound banks and to place a heavy fine upon persons for taking their own money out of the banks and keeping it where they please would be invalid, but the banking system had broken down, people were frightened, business was paralyzed, confidence was lost and an impending financial crash was inevitable unless averted by heroic action and such means were justified to save the situation.

The entire banking system must be reconstructed on a sound financial basis. The system can not stand when based upon the debts of the Government (interest bearing bonds) as a basis. The system can not stand when this means the pyramiding of bond issues and the continuous borrowing of money to pay the interest on the bonds and keep the Government forever in debt, and that is what the bond holders want. If the debts are ever paid there will be no basis for the issuance of currency. Congress must resume its constitutional authority to "coin money and regulate its value" and guarantee the deposits in every chartered bank to restore confidence and make them safe.

It would seem that Congress was delegating its constitutional authority to the President when it delegated him the authority to abolish departments of Government, reduce salaries and take the people off the pay roll, put there by act of Congress. But Congress had failed to perform its duties in this respect and the only way this could be done to carry out the platform demands for reduction of expenses was to place this responsibility upon the President, and he was willing to assume it.

The agricultural relief bill is admitted by the President and its supporters to be an experiment and it offers no relief that I can see, except to relieve the farmers of all they make in the future, just as the Farm Board and other relief measures have done in the past.

I could not support this measure enfeebling dictatorial powers upon the Secretary of Agriculture, with the probability of squandering more money than was lost by the Farm Board. I am opposed to all measures putting the Government into business and especially of controlling farming operations. If the Government is to remain in business and undertake to increase prices of farm products by legislation, the easiest and cheapest way to it is to guarantee a profitable price for cotton and wheat, the two great export products that go abroad, and bring back our balance of trade. This was done for wheat during the World War and no loss was incurred. Acreage can easily be controlled by voluntary contracts with farmers, when a fair price is guaranteed, but not otherwise.

The Government would take only the amount agreed upon and any surplus would be carried by the growers and used in estimating the price and allotment of production for the next year.

The dealers, manufacturers and millers would recognize the soundness and stability of this plan and would support it because they could make future contracts without danger of violent fluctuations of prices, as now occur under the operation of the exchanges. The Government would probably never have to take a balance of cotton or a bushel of wheat.

Since the President is willing to assume dictatorial powers like Mussolini, Hitler and Lenin, he ought to be willing to guarantee the farmers a profitable price for their products in order to stabilize agriculture and industries and restore prosperity to the country.—George B. Terrell in The Dallas Morning News.

THE BEST FRIEND OF HARD TIMES.

The best friend of "hard times" is a high tax rate.

Reasonable taxes encourage the investment of capital, the development and expansion of industry, the employment of labor. They encourage home building, savings and business activity of all kinds.

Excessive taxes, on the other hand, have precisely the opposite effect. They drive money into hoarding or into tax-free government bonds, thus depriving industry of revenue it sorely needs. They make for unemployment and for widespread economic distress. They discourage the home builder. They cause property to be taken over by the county or state for unpaid taxes, where it at once becomes unproductive.

Make no mistake about it, high taxation, whether by the federal government, or states, counties or municipalities, has had much to do with creating and prolonging hard times. Every business man in the United States knows that. So does every investor. So should every worker. The best influence in favor of good times would be a decisive cut in the cost of government and the elimination of bureaucratic waste, red tape and inefficiency. And the best place to begin is right in your own home town, county or state. The tax bill is fast becoming the barometer of economic conditions.—Selected.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ROOSEVELT'S FARM RELIEF PLAN.

It provides for reduction in acreage or production of specified farm products and to compensate producers for such reduction through rental or benefit payments.

For marketing agreement with producers, marketing agencies and processors of farm products.

For licensing processors and distributing agencies engaged in interstate or foreign commerce in handling agricultural products and to regulate them so as to eliminate unfair practices and charges.

For farmers to secure options on Farm Board cotton, provided those taking options reduce cotton acreage at least 30 per cent. The amount one can buy is equivalent to an estimated production upon the reduced acreage. The farmers take no risk as they may or may not exercise their option rights. They have until January 1, 1934 to do this.

Places a minimum of 10¢ per lb. on cotton owned by the Farm Board. It provides for imposing taxes on the processing of the basic agricultural commodities at an amount not in excess of that necessary to restore the pre-war price parity, subject to the limitation that the tax shall be reduced if the full amount is more than can be borne under existing conditions without excessive reduction in consumption.

The basic products to which the Act applies are: wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, rice, hogs, cattle, sheep and milk and its products. In practically all cases these products are now selling at retail far below the cost of other items of food and the prices of goods and services which consumers buy. The bill specifically states that the Act is not to be so administered as to advance the retail price of the products affected out of line with the price of other products.

The President may terminate the measure whenever he finds the existing emergency in relation to agriculture has been ended.

The chief merit of the Act, if it succeeds, will be to establish the principle of a fair relationship between producers and general industrial life. It would clarify the present selfish business confusion. If this can be done then the principle should be embodied into law based, not upon any particular period of time, but strictly upon economic justice. It recognizes production as a basic industry, our producers as victims of a social disorder, and admits that inadequate prices is the underlying cause. It also proposes to curb speculation in agricultural products.

The weakness of the Act lies in the fact that it is merely based upon a business relationship covering a certain period of time without regard to the economic needs of producers. The Act accepts the parity between production and general industry during the period from 1909 to 1914 as economically just. While this period was better than at present, even then our farmers were losing and had been for years. It guarantees the public that prices will not be permitted to go above the parity which prevailed during this period. The pre-war five-year period may prove wholly inadequate for our farmers, now.

Our farmers must have profits above costs of production upon their cash crops or they can never hope to pull out of their present condition. This nation must ascertain the producers' needs before it can give them proper economic relief. If we are to build a strong and just economic structure we must begin with fair profits upon production and carry the principle on through all its processes until they reach final consumption.

The measure is admitted to be an experiment. Its material effect may be not be beneficial, depending to a great extent upon the wisdom and courage of its administration, coupled with a general acceptance of the principle after having been tried. It makes possible the rankest favoritism, as all arbitrary power does. Successful administration will require a rare combination of technical honesty.

The measure gives the President and Secretary of Agriculture broad, flexible powers quite out of keeping with our cherished traditions. One cannot help but call to mind the words of the poet: "All nations are now drifting toward dictatorship, while none are drifting toward democracy."

This Act, however, will be passed in some form. The chief objection (though inadequate), which is the only vital principle in the bill, is that without price determination there can be no parity. The President and Secretary of Agriculture are anxious to assume the task and Congress is going to pass the buck to them, in my opinion. The public in general will back it because of the serious emergency, and blindly hope to meet all the good and none of the possible evil with which it may be fraught.—Fred. W. Davis in Ferguson Forum.

GOVERNMENT COSTS.

The cost for operation and maintenance of the general government departments of the State of Texas increased from $4.59 per capita in 1917 to $12 per capita in 1929, according to a statement by the United States Bureau of the Census covering "Financial Statistics of the State Government of Texas for 1929," which has just been received by the branch offices of the Department of Commerce at Houston, Galveston, Dallas and El Paso. In 1928 the per capita cost of Texas Government was $12.54, which shows that our government cost each of us $0.54 less in 1929 than in 1928.

The total payments in 1929 for operation and maintenance of general departments, interest and outlays were $92,875,317, according to the census report.

The total revenue receipts in 1929 were $94,729,950 or $16.61 per capita. This was $26,234,268 more

MEMORIES OF CHILDHOOD.

By Adda May Hamaker.

O the days that used to be,
Days now gone and slipped from me,
How they've numbered up in years,
Holding all my joys and fears.

O to take a backward way,
Into childhood's sunny day;
I remember all the fun
That we had when work was done.

Mother used to always say,
"When the work's done, you can play."
Then we'd scamper off, away,
In the pasture or the hay.

Or most likely it would be Playing horse, and then you'd see
Such a harness we'd rig out,
Of the string we found about.

With a smooth stick for a "bit",
And the lines tied onto it.
When we got the thing all done,
It's just like a "really one".

Frank would always be the man,
I, the horse, old Doll or Fan.
I could travel some, you bet!
Down the road, (I see it yet.)

Thru the fennel and the weeds,
Under "sunshades" droppin' seeds;
And the gender mattered not,
Whether girl or boy or what.

Tho' they called me "Tomboy" then,
I would be the same again!
'Twas such fun to play that way,
In our happy childhood day.

than the total payments including those for permanent improvements.

The report shows that the total funded or fixed debt outstanding August 31, 1929, was $4,367,200. The net indebtedness was the same or $0.77 per capita. In 1928 the per capita debt was $0.76, but in 1917 it was $1.07.

The assessed valuation of property in Texas subject to ad valorem taxation was $4,219,235,097; the amount of state taxes levied was $28,690,799; and the per capita levy, $5.03. In 1928 the per capita levy was $4.57, and in 1917, $3.86.

THE TAX-PRODUCED DEPRESSION.

Said Colonel Robert R. McCormick recently: "The depression here and throughout the world has been caused by excessive taxes, which have made industry and commerce unprofitable, have prevented them from saving any surplus or raising new capital, and have thrown millions of men out of work."

Mr. Average Business Man will say "amen" to that. The hand of the tax collector reaches as insistently into the small concern as the large one. It touches, relatively speaking, the millionaire and the clerk about alike, though in the latter's case the taxes are paid indirectly. It falls on the small farm and the great industry with disastrous consequences for each.

Taxes—industrial retrenchment—unemployment—depression. One follows the other, with taxes leading the way.—Industrial News Review.

THE SUCCESSFUL MAN.

By R. L. Campbell.

Happy is the man who thinks that he can
And goes to his work like a baseball fan.
That he will succeed he never does doubt,
So he sticks to the job he sets about;
And failure is a word he does not know
For he always succeeds the records show.

When he thinks that he can then can sing
For he knows his efforts success will bring.
The hardest of tasks he never does shirk
For he is the man who laughs at his work.
When he places work in the class with fun
It's easy to stick till the task is done.

And he is the man who has earned his pay
When the sun goes down at the close of day.
And then when the darkness around him creeps
He goes to his bed where he soundly sleeps;
For he always knows what efforts to make
And has no worry to keep him awake.

Yes, he is the man who has earned his pay
When the sun goes down at the close of day.
It is he who makes the wheels go around
At the marts of the world where success is found.
"He can who thinks that he can," is true;
The name of that man? Well it could be you.

GIVE YOUR FLOWERS TO THE LIVING.

By Emma Allen Bailey.

Speak your kind words to the living
And sing your songs while they can hear;
Each kind word will grow in beauty,
And every song will give some cheer.

Give your flowers to the living,
Let them enjoy the fragrance sweet;
Let them know the friend who's giving,
And feel the warmth of each heart-beat.

Just one rosebud would be better
If given while your friend is here,
Than all the blossoms you could gather
Piled high at death upon his bier.

Give your kind words and the flowers
To saddened hearts who need them here,
God will send you precious showers
Of happiness, of love and cheer!

THE CITY.

By Olive Scott Stainsby.

The city streets are grim and gray,
Ace noisy, restless, night and day,
Like living monsters, greedy hands
Out-stretched to grasp. Great strangling bands
Of sky-scrapers outline the sky,
No sunshine filters from on high.
A prisoner, I, within these walls,
But longing for the rural halls
Of templed trees, and rippling streams, (Oh God! Can these be only dreams?)
—To wander with the lowing herds,
To hear the Lark—All idle words!
I find myself still plodding here,
Within my heart a constant fear
Of greedy, grasping cruelty—
Look at the scars it gave to me!
Oh help me, God, to get away,
Out where there's peace at close of day.

TO THE MISERS OF THE WORLD.

By Elizabeth Giles Winn.

We know this thing called life
Mostly is greed and strife,
Tho' in this perilous time
Character is moulded into metal fine
And the good better grow
Under life's mighty blow,
While the rich repose in their raiments
Of gold.

That the burdens of time will grow
The Bible tells us so;
And that only in keeping faith
May we ever abide in His grace,
So much we gain if we cast out the Dross of sin
And let the Lord's spirit dwell deep our souls within,
Tho' misers hold to their idolatrous gold.

The Common Man and Taxes

Much is being said today concerning sales taxes, income taxes, ad valorem taxes, etc. The fact of the business is, all of these taxes are paid finally by the common workers and producers.

No statesman, no legislator today is fully competent as a law-giver, who does not realize the truth of that statement.

Ninety percent of all consumers belong in the working and producing class, while the other ten percent belong in the commercial or a speculative class. Both big and little business belong in this ten percent commercial class.

It is known, of all men, that the big incomes are gathered by the money lenders and commercial classes. Some of our office holders and would-be economists are seeking favors with the common voters by endorsing and proclaiming that a tax on big incomes is the proper way to raise revenue by the Government.

They claim that taxes are thus gathered in the main, from big business, and common workers are thus shielded from the burden of taxation. This is a false and deceptive argument. Tax on incomes is no better than a sales tax,—the common consumers pay it in the main, either way. Both taxes are vicious, and neither one should be used in raising revenue to run the Government. The Government should coin, or print its own money to pay expenses, and never resort to taxation, or borrowing for revenue.

No good business man is going to pay a tax, and then fail to recover it by raising the price of what he sells, or lowering the price of what he buys from the public. In other words, every safe commercial man will figure his overhead expenses back on to the prices of what he sells to consumers, or deduct them from what he buys from consumers. For this reason every sales tax, every revenue tax, every income tax and every tariff levied against the commercial speculator will finally be paid by workers and producers.

Now then, since this position is well established, how is it possible to protect the common consuming public against low prices for what they sell, and against high prices for what they buy?

If we say there is no way to protect consumers from speculators, then we will continue as we are now going, until revolution and chaos envelop all, and destruction is the final end and a savage, nomadic life becomes our state.

The Governments of the past have all gone down under increasing tax burdens that ate up the substance of the people and left them powerless to exist under the Government that destroyed them.

With all our boasted intelligence, science, knowledge and education, we ought to be able to steer clear of such a catastrophe. What then is the remedy?

In short terms, the remedy is the Government should be made to hold up the workers and producers, and hold down the commercial and speculative classes. How can you do this?

In short, the Government must see to it that laborers and producers get better prices for what they sell to speculators, and that speculators get less profit for what they sell back to laborers and producers. Well, you say, how can you do that?

It can only be done by the power of government to regulate these things under just laws, rigidly enforced. The Government must take a hand in the regulation of prices, both to and from the consumers, and in order to do that the government must control its own medium of exchange, so it can be independent of the speculators which the government itself is pretending to depower and overrule.

We are now operating upon a fallacious principle. We are trying as a Government, to regulate prices made by the speculators, and while we are doing that, we are foolishly trying to use their own money to interfere with their own transactions. Don't you see the impossibility of such a thing? It looks silly in the extreme.

We must, as a Government, make our own medium of exchange, and then go out and price something else besides gold and silver. We must print our own money as the Constitution demands for our own transactions, and not continue to borrow the money owned and controlled by the very commercial brigands that are now ruining us by high profits, high taxes, high interest, and high rents.

Our country controlled as it is now by private money and private speculators, is fast becoming a place intolerable as a habitation for man. Our people in parts are beginning to rise in rebellion. Our present Governor of Texas has said: "Taxes must be reduced, or our Government will fall".

If we do not change our laws, it is only a matter of time when our people in general will have to rise in one common revolt and frame a new Government. They will do it. Ignorant people in ages past, have succumbed to slavery and peonage, but American people, let us hope, will submit to no such degradation.

Our degradation is sure,—it is already accomplished, if we longer submit to private control of our money. We must demand that our Government print its own money to pay its own expenses, and thus cut off all taxes for revenue, and then go out and control the prices in favor of the common citizens. Therein lies our redemption from inevitable national destruction.

Taxation should be levied only to reduce an over-inflation of currency, and to prevent an over accumulation of fortunes in private hands.

A BREEDING FLOCK OF ANGORAS ON A SOUTHWEST TEXAS RANCH.

The Bureau of the Census announces a summary of the financial statistics of the State of Texas for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1931. The per capita figures for 1931 are based on an estimated population of 5,893,000.

Expenditures

The payments for operations and maintenance of the general departments of Texas amounted to $71,418,296, or $12.12 per capita. This includes $30,540,864, apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. In 1930 the per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $12.12 and in 1917, $4.59. The interest on debt, in 1931 amounted to $23,337, and outlays for permanent improvements, $35,181,662. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments, interest, and outlays were $106,623,295. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Of the governmental costs reported above, $41,683,273 was for highways, $10,671,435 being for maintenance and $31,011,838 for construction.

Revenues

The total revenue receipts were $110,738,248, or $18.79 per capita. This was $39,296,615 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, and $4,114,953 more than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. This excess of revenue receipts is reflected in purchase of investments and increased cash balances, not shown in this summary. Property and special taxes represented 24.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1931, 26.9 per cent for 1930, and 56.6 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 96.7 per cent from 1917 to 1931 but there was a decrease of 9.8 per cent from 1930 to 1931. The per capita of property and special taxes collected was $4.65 in 1931, $5.16 in 1930, and $3.10 in 1917.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by State officials, represented 3.7 per cent of the total revenue for 1931, 3.6 per cent for 1930, and 16.7 per cent for 1917.

Business and nonbusiness licenses constituted 41.4 per cent of the total revenue for 1931, 42.5 per cent for 1930, and 12.5 per cent for 1917.

Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, of occupation taxes, and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from nonbusiness licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $30,216,810 in 1931 and $20,514,976 in 1930, a decrease of 1 per cent.

Indebtedness

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding August 31, 1931 was $4,475,200.

The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $4,445,745, or $0.75 per capita. In 1930 the per capita net debt was $0.75 and in 1917, $1.07.

Assessed Valuations and Tax Levies.

The assessed valuation of property in Texas subject to ad valorem taxation was $4,241,682,299; the amount of State taxes levied was $31,388,449; and the per capita levy, $5.33. In 1930 the per capita levy was $5.14 and in 1917, $3.86.

Every time Roy Gamblin of Yantis, Wood county, feeds a sack and one-half of cottonseed meal, which cost him $1, as supplement to home grown feed, he sells $10 worth of milk, so he tells the county agent. This is all the feed he buys. He has a trench silo, a barn full of pea vine and sorghum hay, and crushes whole ear corn to feed his cows.

I write to help Congress to a saner interpretation of good government. I write to help bankers to a more helpful financial method for working people.

A prominent man said to me recently: "When do you think the New Administration will get things going in their usual order again?" I answered: "Never until the head government gets off the gold base, and begins to issue U. S. Notes as money direct to the people for their services and certain commodities, and takes the issue and control of money out of the hands of interest-takers."

He then asked: "How can the Government get this money back after issuing it that way?" I answered: "By a graduated property tax, and if necessary, by a graduated income and inheritance tax. Everybody is asking the same questions."

I told him further, that we would get a little temporary relief with some business revival now, and the papers would all brag about it and shout "See what Democrats are doing for the country! See what three per cent beer is doing for the people; it makes them so happy to be free again to do as they please! See what a great revenue goes into the Treasury to help support the Government and balance the budget!"

And a lot of other just such twaddle as that will float around among silly people. Everybody is now being stuffed full of such dope. They say normalcy will soon appear, and the so-called "New Deal" will make money plentiful and put people to work, and everybody will be happy again.

Oh! What fools we mortals be to believe such babble as that! I have just received a letter from an intelligent correspondent who had just read "Righteous Economics", and he says: "Very obviously you have spent much time and energy in studying the money question and have reached some very constructive and practical conclusions. Between the lines I can read that your appeal was not prompted by selfish ends which have sadly been an obstacle in the path of human progress throughout the ages."

He then delivers the following literary gem: "My consciousness almost overflows with grievous emotion when I meditate on the formidable influence that has trapped humanity into the folds of a net of its own laying so constructed that it has no opening for escape. The netting has become embedded and grown over by the very flesh of our civilization, and remains as an infestive malady within the very body of our existence. Only the most profound philosophy and comprehensive understanding can definitely reveal the strangling cords that today bind our civilization."

Enormous Interest Payments.

Mr. Tyson, a correspondent to the Boise Valley Herald, suggests that we need to use more of what is called scrip. He says history proves that it has pulled many a commonwealth "out of a bad hole". The use of scrip is not confined to the United States. Austria, Hungary, Germany and other countries have used it to great advantage. Of course it is necessary for everyone to co-operate in launching a scrip movement. Then after a few days everyone becomes familiar with its use, and it does its work just as well as gold and silver coins. After all has been said, our regular paper currency is actually nothing but a kind of scrip.

We hear so much today about the enormous issues of new money, and we are led to believe that the "Treasury" is just going to float quantities of it among us soon, but what of it? Will we get it without borrowing it and paying big interest on it just as we have been doing in all the past? That has already ruined us, and they now try to make us believe they will help us out by ruining us some more. Such nonsense!

Scrip costs us no interest, but this new money now issued at Washington will cost us the usual bankers' interest all the way through. The bankers have it all, and bankers live by interest. They have no work for us to do to earn their money as a municipality has in the case of scrip. Someone must go to the banks and borrow this money to pay bills, and a fat interest is sure to be charged. Even five per cent is a greater burden today than ten per cent a few years ago. Five per cent is too high.

The interest on the debt of our population today is greater than the value of all the 54 commodities the farmer raises. If we sold all the grains, wool, cotton, cattle, hogs, everything raised on all the farms in the United States, they would not sell for money enough to pay the interest on what we owe. What a burden! You say you do not believe it. Then you must be foolish or ignorant.

THERE MUST BE TAX REDUCTION.

In 1930 the population of the United States was a trifle less than twice that of 1890.

The national wealth was six times as great.

The tax collections of government, federal, state and local, were 12 times the 1890 levies. An 827 per cent increase was registered by the federal government, with state and local taxes jumping 1754 per cent and 1139 per cent respectively.

Since 1930 taxes have continued to increase. National income has taken an appreciable drop. There has been little change in population. At the moment, more of the individual and business dollar goes to government than at any other time in our history. During 1933 it is estimated that taxes will take at least 30 per cent of the national income.

Taxation is as serious an economic problem as we have ever faced. There has been, on the one hand, an unprecedented collapse in incomes and values—on the other, an unprecedented orgy of government spending and indebtedness. Until taxes are reduced, there can be no recovery—unless taxes are reduced we face a bleak future.—Industrial News Review.

FATHERS' NIGHT OBSERVED BY CLUB.
The third annual celebration of the anniversary of their organization was observed Friday evening, May 12, by the members of the Community Club. Fathers of school children were guests of the Club, and this occasion, linked with the approach of Mother's Day, was the theme of a very engaging program which opened with a hymn to Mary, Queen of the May, sung in German by the entire assembly. Mrs. Adolph Lamm welcomed the guests and read a paper on the father's part in rearing children; Francis Brown recited "A Change in Father"; Regina Richter played a violin solo with Stella Finger accompanying; "Mother's Day", a recitation by Melvina Rothe, was followed by the song, "Darkness on the Delta" by Alta and Beatrice Finger, accompanied by Verene Finger; Francis Koch sang, "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine", with violin obligato by Ethel Rothe; "If I Were Father", coveted prize.

A huge bon-fire on the river bank lighted the scene while "weenies", pickles and buns were enjoyed. Then followed several interesting games.
The graduates honored by this unique outing were: Armine Fohn, Verene Finger, Bernice Carle, Lorine Zinsmeyer, Francis Koch, Mervin Poerner, and Casper Rohrbach. Other guests were Irene Carle, Irene Poerner, Laurinda Braden, Marie Britz, Isabelle Zerr, Hazel Koch, Ethel Rothe, Hattie Brown, Raymond Nestler, Clarence Ernst, Charles Rieber, Herman Fohn, Amos Finger, Clarence Turner, Edward Finger, Lawrence Carle, Francis Carle, and Charles Tondre.

PIRATES WIN AGAIN.
The D'Hanis Pirates defeated the LaCoste Boosters here Sunday thus ringing up their eighth straight victory. The score was 5 to 1. Charles Langfeld was in fine form, setting down the visiting batsmen in order for six innings. Jim Biediger, LaCoste hurler, also showed good form but was touched up quite frequently and received good outfield support. Tommy Koch, Pirate right fielder, made several sparkling catches on hard chances. The entire D'Hanis team fielded perfectly. A game with a fast Kelly Field team is in prospect for Sunday, the game to be played here.

THE DROWNING MAN AND MUNICIPAL MONEY.
A drowning man will grab at a straw. Yes, he will grab at a rope or a plank, and thus he may save his life, but it would be foolish for him not to take hold of the plank because it was not a canoe or a boat.
In a business way we are all sinking, and we have felt it for several years. We have been waiting and noping for a life-saver to come our way, but day by day we seem more forsaken than ever. Why shouldn't we grab at a plank and save ourselves, rather than go down waiting for a boat that may never come?
Below is described a plank, which every incorporated city could throw out to its citizens and save them in an hour of peril, if only the citizens themselves will first agree to grab the plank and remain anchored to it until something bigger is offered later.
The Associated Press correspondent gave out in substance the following in regard to the venture now being made at Russell, Kansas: Work on any municipal improvements designed to give employment to worthy persons needing work, and to be paid for with script issued by the City, can be carried out under the following simple plan.
To begin with, by City Ordinance, the City Secretary can have printed 5,000, one dollar bills in Scrip form, and also have printed $5,000 worth of four cent stamps. All extra employees on city jobs will be paid in these bills at the rate of 33 1/3 cts. per hour.
The 4 cent stamp will be sold as needed to all business firms of the city, and each business house on receiving one of these bills in trade, will attach one of the stamps to the back of the bill, and then pay it out for more goods, or clerk hire, or any work he desires.
When 26 of these stamps have been placed on any bill, it will then be redeemed at its face value by the City Clerk; for by that time, the Scrip will have paid for itself in full, and 4 cents over. This extra 4 cents on the dollar will cover all expenses of printing and distribution.
E. B. Danielson, President of the Russell Chamber of Commerce, speaking of the plan said: "All local business houses have agreed to accept this paper money. Banks will take it in payment of interest and services. The Scrip will also be honored by public utilities."
If a worker desires to go to some other town, and wants to exchange his scrip for U. S. money, he can do so at the banks by affixing the 4 cent stamp to each dollar at his own expense, and paying the bankers a small discount. The banker can then pass it on at full face value.
The only time the worker would suffer a loss is when he wanted to exchange his scrip for U. S. money instead of trading it out for goods.
Now that is simple, and easy to understand. Let every city put it into effect at once. It needs no bond issues, and no interest payments, just a plain business venture to give drowning men and revive sinking business. Many cities in the U. S. are beginning to use similar plans, and wonderful benefits are reported as a result to every man, woman and child in the region about.
Anaheim, and 36 other towns of California are using a similar scheme. Several other towns in Canada and the U. S. are reported to be using it. It illustrates a true principle involved in the issue of money by the Nation. All money of every Nation should be either Service or Commodity Scrip. The whole thing is nothing more nor less than a Municipal Currency commonly called Scrip.

LONGHORNS 8, TRIO 5.

Herman Fohn, speed-ball pitching ace for the D'Hanis Longhorns, turned in a victory for his team last Sunday, helping the Steers to win their first game of the season at Trio.

It seemed as though it was going to be a hard struggle, for at the end of the third inning the score was 3 up. But a sudden hitting streak by the Longhorns yielded 5 runs. The feature of the game was the hitting of Martin Ney, who collected four hits in six trips to the plate.

Griffin pitched a good game for Trio but was no match for the Pilot's pitcher. Two hits in succession by Trio in the eighth gave them two more runs, making the final score 8 to 5.

TREASURE HUNT.
Invitations in the guise of pirates' hats were received some days ago summoning guests to a treasure hunt given in honor of the Senior Class of St. Anthony's High School. The hosts were the Freshmen, Alvin Brown, and the Sophomores, Leona Poerner, Lillian Fohn, Sara Koch, Alice Rohrbach, Stella Finger, David Albrecht and Jacob Weynand.
At eight o'clock Tuesday evening, May 16, the hunt began, under the direction of Miss Josie Rothe, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Koch. Clues were enthusiastically followed up at various places: the Henry Poerner home, the "shack", the "old Poerner", the mail box, the old Seco creek, and finally the treasure was found at a bend of Seco Creek. Jim Finger and Hilmer J. Koch received boxes of delicious homemade candy for being successful in unearthing the

DUCKS AND GEESE ON THE FARM.
By B. G. Roberts.
There is scarcely a farm in the United States where no poultry is kept and almost every farmer has some kind of chickens, but I have often wondered why so few farmers in the South keep ducks and geese. I breed several kinds of ducks and geese, as well as four breeds of purebred chickens, and my waterfowl return me a greater profit every year than my other poultry.
There are several breeds of ducks, Indian Runner, Buff, and Khaki-Campbell are the leading egg breeds; Pekin, Rouen, Cayuga, Swedish, and Muscovy ducks are grown for meat and eggs also. Muscovy duck eggs require five weeks to hatch instead of four, the time required for all other duck eggs. Muscovies are a separate species from other ducks, and will not cross with other breeds, so may be allowed to run with others without crossing. There are three varieties of Muscovy ducks; White, Blue and Dark.
Geese are divided into several breeds. Brown and White Chinese, Buff, African, Toulouse, Embden, Canada and Egyptian. Toulouse, Embden and African geese are meat breeds; Brown or White Chinese for eggs; Canada and Egyptian for ornament.
Geese are grazers, and where provided with plenty of pasture, will glean their own living. It costs less to keep a flock of geese than any other poultry. Muscovy ducks are also grazers and take less feed than any breed except Mallard ducks. I have been raising Mallards for several years, and as they are small eaters and sell readily, have found them to be a good breed for the farm.
Ducks and geese may be raised successfully without water to swim in, though of course they enjoy water for bathing. Many of the large commercial duck farms only supply drinking water in fountains, and have fine success in rearing these fowls.
A good ration for breeding geese is made up as follows: Wheat shorts, 26 lbs.; bran, 20 lbs.; whole ground oats, 20 lbs.; ground yellow corn, 20 lbs.; alfalfa meal, 10 lbs.; fish meal or beef scraps, 10 lbs.; bone meal, 1 lb.; ground oyster shell, 2 lbs.; salt, 1-2 lb. Feed twice daily in a crumpled condition, only what they will eat up in five minutes. During cold weather, corn may be fed once per day, but care should be used in feeding corn to geese as too much will make the breeders too fat and result in infertile eggs. Geese may be mated in the ratio of one to three geese to one gander, but best results will usually be had by not mating more than two geese to one male.
Ducks are more carnivorous than geese, and following is a good ration for breeding ducks: Bran, 20 lbs.; shorts, 15 lbs.; oat meal, 15 lbs.; ground corn, 25 lbs.; alfalfa meal, 6 lbs.; soybean meal, 5 lbs.; fish meal or beef scraps, 10 lbs.; ground oyster shell, 2 lbs.; bone meal, 1 lb.; charcoal, 1-2 lb.; salt 1-2 lb. Feed this ration twice daily, but only what will be cleaned up in two minutes as ducks eat much faster than geese. Cooked vegetables, such as cabbage, celery, turnips, etc., are good for geese and ducks, especially through the winter when green food is scarce. Some corn should be fed ducks in cold weather to help keep up the weight and heat of their bodies.
Goslings are started on a food of stale bread moistened with sweet milk, and this is fed until ten days of age. Then they may be placed on a ration of 20 lbs. bran; 20 lbs. shorts; 20 lbs. yellow corn meal; and 2 1/2 lbs. beef scraps. This may be moistened with milk (sour or sweet) until in a crumpled state, and should be fed three times daily. Goslings are dainty feeders, so should not be fed with ducklings or chickens. They should be provided with a grassy run, as their first food is grass.
The ration given above is also used for feeding ducklings, but they should be fed five times daily for the first two weeks, then three times per day. If raising some of the rare or delicate breeds, I feed rolled oats, moistened with sweet milk for ten days, then change to the ration already given.
Ducklings and goslings must be kept in out of heavy dews or showers or rain until fully feathered, as they will soon chill out if thoroughly wet before they feather out. Unlike chicks, waterfowl are very hardy and easily raised, and I usually raise about 99% of all hatched. I seldom lose one except by accident, but they must be guarded from rats, turtles, and other predators. Turtles will kill young ducklings and eat them if allowed to do so, and rats are very fond of ducklings and goslings too.

INCOME RANK OF FARM PRODUCTS.
Striking changes in the relative money returns from various farm products have occurred in the last three and one-half years. Dairy products have assumed first place in the amount of gross farm income, a position formerly held by cattle, hogs, and sheep as a group. Live stock in 1932 was the second largest source of income and vegetables third.
Vegetables last year yielded a higher gross return than did grains, cotton and cottonseed, or poultry and eggs according to preliminary estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. In most of the years prior to the depression gross income was largest from cattle, hogs, and sheep; dairying ranked second, while the amount of gross income from cotton and cottonseed, grains, and poultry and eggs was about equal, so that these products competed for third, fourth, and fifth places, and vegetables ranked sixth as a source of gross income.
The largest shrinkage in dollars of gross income has been borne by producers of cattle, hogs, and sheep as a group. Gross income from these commodities in 1929 was $2,807,000,000, and in 1932 it was $1,122,000,000—a drop of 60 per cent. The relative decline in gross income, however, has been much greater in the case of cotton and cottonseed and grains. Cotton and cottonseed in 1929 provided a gross farm income of $1,389,000,000, but only $397,000,000 in 1932, a shrinkage of 72 per cent.

NEMATODES SUSPECTED IN DISEASE OF COTTON.
Scientists, on the trail of the cause of sore-shin of cotton, now suspect that nematodes or ellworms, tiny wormlike creatures living in the soil, may be important factors. Sore-shin is a disease which causes young cotton plants to wither and die. It usually develops in damp, cool weather. Specialists of the South Carolina Experiment Station and the United States Department of Agriculture found that diseased plants had hundreds of the tiny nematodes in the roots. They formerly thought that the nematodes were harmless and merely got into the roots after the disease attacked the plant; that they strayed in after the fence was down, the break in the fence in this instance being the opening in the root caused by the disease. Now the scientists suspect that the nematodes are the ones which break down the fence and let the disease get into the roots.
After studying the roots of many diseased plants they believe that certain of the many types of nematodes either actually attack the roots, opening them up for the sore-shin disease to enter, or that they enlarge any openings which the disease produces, so that the disease can spread more readily.
The investigations were made by Dr. C. H. Arndt, of the South Carolina station, and J. R. Christie, of the United States Department of Agriculture. The work done so far is in a preliminary stage.

Building his poultry houses with the concrete floor laid on top of the ground made fine rat harbors in the chicken yard of George Hoffman, poultry demonstrator of Kleberg county. The rats became so numerous that they could be seen running all through the buildings and on the roofs and the feed bill became very expensive. County Agent W. L. Wilkinson advised the use of cyanogas. The hose attached to the pump of a dust gun was thrust as far under the concrete into the rat runs as it would go and such rats as did not die at once came out into the open in a condition that made killing them an easy matter. Poison bait was used in the granary lofts and Mr. Hoffman reports that he now sees no rats about the premises.

HOW SHE LOST 29 POUNDS IN 3 MONTHS
"I am using your Kruschen Salts to reduce and I've used a bottle and a half and dieted some and lost 29 pounds in 3 months. I feel so much better and intend to keep on taking the Salts as I was almost 50 pounds overweight." Mrs. Thelma Gravelly, Roseville, Calif. (Jan. 11, 1933).
To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.
A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at W. H. WINDROW'S or any drugstore in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts, the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar. Mail orders filled.

PAY IT WITH PULLETS.
"Pay it with pullets" is the slogan of farm boys and girls of Tennessee who returned 1,910 standard bred pullets to the bankers who supplied them with eggs last spring on the "Return a pullet" payment plan. The boys and girls are members of poultry clubs conducted by extension workers cooperatively employed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural college. These pullets will be sold at auction by the bankers to interest the farmers of the state in better poultry.

Farm forest products yielded an income to Texas of $8,440,281, according to the 1930 Federal census, including over 100 million board feet of saw logs and veneer logs, nearly a million fence posts and over a million and a half cords of wood for fuel.
